Statesboro Report

by W. M. CONNOR, General Manager

Statesboro Plant

Rockwell Manufacturing Company

Once again it's Christmas time and as we look back over the past year we are thankful for all those occasions which have enabled us to get together and become better acquainted. We look forward to continuing our pleasant associations during the coming year.

This holiday season marks the fourth here at Statesboro and is an opportune time to review the progress that all of us have made since operations first started.

We have grown from three employees on April 1, 1956 to our present force and we are happy to say that the three on our original payroll are still with us. In line with our growth here at Statesboro, our increased skills and efficiencies have resulted in larger paychecks and increased payrolls which have been reflected in the business life of the community.

Some of the highlights of the past year were the transfer of the Administrative and Sales functions of our Petroleum and Industrial Motors to Statesboro; the transfer of assembly operations on those gas meters sold in the Southeast region, the purchase of additional machines and equipment to better enable us to produce the high quality meters for which Rockwell is famous, the polio inoculations for all employees desiring them, our employee get-togethers, and our open house—all

Another New Year... another new opportunity

Another year—another start. For some reason, these four words seem to symbolize the thoughts of most of us when we take the "old" calendar down from the wall and hang up the "new." As far as most of us are concerned, the old year is "dead" and we need only concern ourselves with today and tomorrow.

Another year, another start. Nothing could be more true. But, it is not a start from nowhere, or from nothing. We begin this New Year with the experience and knowledge that we gained in the Old—and in the Older years before that.

We like to picture the New Year as a babe, bright-eyed and energetic, brimming with confidence and enthusiasm, quite a contrast to the bearded old man with a scythe who waited out the last minute of the Old Year. This change in symbols is fair enough,

Learn him to use it

"A Christmas gift shotgun Saturday took the life of Danny Lee Stell, 12, of Bryant."

So reads the lead paragraph of a news story dated from Canton, Illinois, on December 26.

Did your teen-age son get a shotgun or rifle for Christmas? If so, have you made plans to instruct him in how it should be used, how it should be cared for?

If you have not planned to do this, then you better be an Indian giver and take it away from him, explaining that he can have it back as soon as you can take time out to instruct him in its use and care.

But then maybe you do not know yourself. If that is so, then plead with a friend of yours who does know guns, he'll glad to help you and your son.

It'll pay big dividends in knowing that you have given your son a gift he can enjoy when properly used and handled.

Things must be tough

Things in Washington must be tougher than we realize.

According to the U. S. News and World Report, from now on, the government wants the trading stamps it pays for. A new order from the General Services Administration made clear to the more than 100,000 U. S. employees who drive on official business. All trading stamps that a driver gets when he buys gas and oil at Government expense must be turned in to the employee's supervisor.

We have before us a new catalog showing the premiums one of the leading trading stamp companies gives its stamp collectors and we don't see many items that the Government could get with their stamps that would be of much use. Unless you consider a set of golf clubs as necessary to good efficient government. Well, they could trade them for shotguns—takes ten and one-half books to get one gun—the Defense department might find a use for these. And the Navy could use the outboard motors at seventy-five books of stamps for each one.

Wonder if the Government would accept our green stamps for our 1959 income taxes?

because it is a new thing, to do better. So, before we forget this Old Year completely, let us look backward with an appraising eye. We change the calendar with the New Year, but we cannot wipe the slate clean—not in the truest sense. We ourselves do not change. Except for the fact that we are a bit older—and should be a bit wiser—we are the same individuals that we were 365 days ago when we were wondering (as we do now) what the New Year would "bring to us."

Welcome to the New Year, and to the time that it will provide for doing bigger and greater things. Welcome the chance—the opportunity—to make the effort for progress and improvement; but at the same time be thankful for the success and the failure that we knew in the year that is departed. If we lived the Old Year wisely, then perhaps we are prepared to make the most of the New.

A good time to do it

The New Year is recognized as a time of self appraisal. A time of stock-taking. A time of making resolutions. A time to settle differences.

This can apply to big business, and little business just as well as to individuals.

It would seem to us to be a good time for the Georgia Municipal Association, representing the cities of Georgia, and the Rural Electric Cooperatives to get together and talk out their problem of "conflict of interest."

This problem arises as a result of growing communities and the annexing of the new areas into city limits—areas into which the Rural Electric Co-ops had erected electric power lines when the areas were considered to be rural.

Then comes the question of who serves the newly annexed sections.

It has been proposed that the two groups involved get together in an effort to work out an agreement. Representatives of these two groups are reasonable men and the good will they would gain among the people each serves would seem to dictate a settlement of the conflict.

And this New Year, this first year of a new decade, is a good time to do it.

The second largest undrained swampland in the United States—Okefenokee Swamp, near Waycross—is now a vast wildlife refuge. A winter nesting place for flocks of migratory birds, the Swamp is also the year-round home of hundreds of bear, deer, alligators and wildcats.

We have before us a new catalog showing the premiums one of the leading trading stamp companies gives its stamp collectors and we don't see many items that the Government could get with their stamps that would be of much use. Unless you consider a set of golf clubs as necessary to good efficient government. Well, they could trade them for shotguns—takes ten and one-half books to get one gun—the Defense department might find a use for these. And the Navy could use the outboard motors at seventy-five books of stamps for each one.

Wonder if the Government would accept our green stamps for our 1959 income taxes?

THE MORNING AFTER...

THE MORNING AFTER...
What is it? What does it mean?
According to our encyclopedia New Year's Day is observed generally as a festival, in the Gregorian calendar it is the first day of January. In the Christian Church the Feast of the Circumcision occurs on this date. The Jewish New Year is the first day of Tishri, which corresponds roughly to September. The Chinese New Year between January 10 and February 19 (of the Gregorian calendar) is the most important festival of the year. In the Western World New Year's Eve is celebrated in merriment and theoretically at least, in the meeting of old friends.

FORMULA FOR 1960
IN BOTH CARTOON and quotation, the decade now closing has been called, "The Fateful Fifties." Highlights of this ten-year period seem to run the gamut from war in Korea to victory over polio and missiles into space. One need not look long at the cartoon to realize that in countless ways the fifties were fateful.

Yet, isn't this true with the individual as well as the nation? Who, among us, standing on the brink of the new year and a new decade, does not look backward over his own actions and muster "fateful"? Think of the words so thoughtlessly spoken; the time so wistfully wasted; the money so ill-spent. (The week after Christmas is a good time for such reflection.) New Year's Eve could well find us all in some "Watch Night" Service in the house of God, repenting for the wrong choices and decisions we have made intentionally and ignorantly made.

SINCE the nation is made up of individuals, the year-end time for personal introspection rather than public pronouncement. We need to look at our own sins rather than the sins of others.

Writing to the Philippians, Paul set out a formula for the facing of a new year. He said: "I, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on to the upward call of God in Christ Jesus." (RSV)

It has been proposed that the two groups involved get together in an effort to work out an agreement. Representatives of these two groups are reasonable men and the good will they would gain among the people each serves would seem to dictate a settlement of the conflict.

And this New Year, this first year of a new decade, is a good time to do it.

The second largest undrained swampland in the United States—Okefenokee Swamp, near Waycross—is now a vast wildlife refuge. A winter nesting place for flocks of migratory birds, the Swamp is also the year-round home of hundreds of bear, deer, alligators and wildcats.

We have before us a new catalog showing the premiums one of the leading trading stamp companies gives its stamp collectors and we don't see many items that the Government could get with their stamps that would be of much use. Unless you consider a set of golf clubs as necessary to good efficient government. Well, they could trade them for shotguns—takes ten and one-half books to get one gun—the Defense department might find a use for these. And the Navy could use the outboard motors at seventy-five books of stamps for each one.

Wonder if the Government would accept our green stamps for our 1959 income taxes?

NEW YEAR'S DAY? What is it? What does it mean?
According to our encyclopedia New Year's Day is observed generally as a festival, in the Gregorian calendar it is the first day of January. In the Christian Church the Feast of the Circumcision occurs on this date. The Jewish New Year is the first day of Tishri, which corresponds roughly to September. The Chinese New Year between January 10 and February 19 (of the Gregorian calendar) is the most important festival of the year. In the Western World New Year's Eve is celebrated in merriment and theoretically at least, in the meeting of old friends.

THE NEW YEAR is upon us. It will bring new duties, new joys, new trials, and new opportunities. The first year of a new decade, it may be last or our lives! This seems an uneasy thought, yet it should be reason for us to think upon what we intend to do with this new year. We can let the New Year be a year of service to our fellowman, to our church; a year to share with our family, a year to devote to the welfare of our community.

AT MIDNIGHT tonight, let the new year become a lively issue. Enter it with a kind thought for everyone. You need not kiss the hand that strikes you, but you can grasp it in cordial good feeling. You can be bright of disposition. You can carry your cares with ease. You can let your heart be as sunshine. You can be these things and your year will give warmth to all around you, and the year 1960 will be kind to you and yours.

'Better Soil' essay won by Lynn Reddick

Littlenail ring true in this instance, "As the soil is, so are the people." Faced with the truth that there is only a limited amount of land available to the human race, the inhabitants of the world, in ever increasing numbers, are realizing that the soil is a precious resource. The soil is the basis of our life, and it is the responsibility of each of us to care for it. The soil is the foundation of our civilization, and it is the responsibility of each of us to care for it.

Better Soil and Water Conservation Through Soil Conservation Districts
EDITOR'S NOTE—Recently the Soil Conservation Service conducted an essay contest for high school students. Essays were written on the subject: "Better Soil and Water Conservation Through Soil Conservation Districts." Lynn Reddick of Port High School, president of the Port Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, won the contest with a check for $250.00 at a special meeting of the FFA chapter. Here is the winning essay.
"BETTER SOIL AND WATER CONSERVATION THROUGH SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICTS"
By LYNN REDDICK
Port High School
In the beginning God created heaven and earth. (Genesis 1:1) This was man's inheritance from God. The vital question for us American people is, "What have we done or what will we do with this gift?" Will we nurture this gift as a mother cares for her child or will we sit idly by and see it taken from the soil, as life can be utterly snuffed from a human being? We Americans are blessed with a great heritage. We live in a democracy that is situated in a vast nation that has a great diversity of climate, soil, natural resources and scenic beauties. Here, men and women have created farms, small towns, and great cities from the abundant resources, their dreams, and the inalienable rights of men to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

THE WEEK BETWEEN Christmas and New Year's Day is a great blessing to mankind. During this week there is time to contemplate the year coming.
In the home there is the day right after Christmas. It is the day the house is changed from a disorderly junk heap back to a place of living and eating. The Christmas decorations are removed. There is no more fussing. What should have been done and wasn't done has to pass and while one is filled with sorrow over his failures, at least there is now a period to relax.
DRIVING this period of relaxation one is apt to wonder why we don't save all the programs, the letters to Santa Claus, and the plays for this time. As though the people directing and taking part
